

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Resigns From Saskatchewan Cabinet; Attacks Union Government

Failure of Provincial Government to Take Action Against the Union Government for Failure to Repel War Time Blackouts and to Evolve a Practical Scheme of Land Settlement for Soldiers Given as Among Reasons for Resignation

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 12.—In a two-handed attack on the Union government, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, in a letter to Premier Martin, resigned from the Saskatchewan government, of which he had been minister of agriculture since 1905. The announcement of Mr. Martin from his seat in the assembly before the orders of the day that Mr. Motherwell had offered his resignation and that it had been accepted, came as a complete surprise to everyone outside the cabinet circles. To them it came as a blow, as Premier Martin pointed out during the course of a brief statement following the reading of the letter, that Mr. Motherwell was the only minister who had given his resignation for reasons for resigning. Mr. Motherwell, in a speech of three or four minutes' duration, set all doubts aside as to his intentions, and that he had been ordered by the government to resign until 10 o'clock the previous night seeking to induce him to reconsider his decision, but that his mind was made up.

The premier stated that Hon. George Langford, minister of municipal affairs, would assume the place of Mr. Motherwell in the department of agriculture during the absence of Mr. Motherwell. The government also announced that it would rearrange the portfolios. The government also announced that it would rearrange the portfolios. The government also announced that it would rearrange the portfolios.

Reasons for Resigning
Mr. Motherwell stated that he had been ordered by the government to resign until 10 o'clock the previous night seeking to induce him to reconsider his decision, but that his mind was made up. He stated that he had been ordered by the government to resign until 10 o'clock the previous night seeking to induce him to reconsider his decision, but that his mind was made up.

Coupled with these issues, the letter contained a criticism of the provincial government. He stated that he had been ordered by the government to resign until 10 o'clock the previous night seeking to induce him to reconsider his decision, but that his mind was made up. LEGAL DECISION DELIVERED ON NATIONALITY

Alberta Appeal Court Decides
Canadian Citizen Is Also a
British Subject

The application of Otto Solvany, a Norwegian, who was naturalized under the old naturalization act prior to Jan. 1, 1914, by way of habeas corpus to obtain his release from military service, has been dismissed without costs by the appellate division of the supreme court of Alberta. The judgment was written by Mr. Justice Stuart, and concurred in by Chief Justice Harvey and Justices Simons and Hyndman, and holds that Solvany came within the terms of the military service act, and was called up for service. He is granted leave of absence, and made the present application for release.

The contention of Solvany was that under the terms of the naturalization act, he was a British subject, if he was only "within Canada," and that as it was intended to send him overseas, he would not, after his arrival there, be a British subject at all, and was therefore not subject to the act, and was not liable to be called up for service.

A second contention was also advanced that the naturalization act in any case did not specifically declare that those naturalized under it thereby became British subjects, but merely bestowed upon them the rights of British subjects.

Their lordships held that this contention was untenable. With regard to the first contention, they found that a naturalized alien when "out of the former state," even when within it, if it does not claim him as one of its nationals, must be regarded as a British subject.

RED LETTER DAY IN HISTORY OF EDMONTON GOLF

Golf history was written in letters of gold when the Edmonton Golf Club celebrated its 25th anniversary on Monday, December 8. To say that the affair was a success is merely to express the fact in the blindest and most trite fashion. It was an extraordinary banquet. It was a general getting together of good fellows and good gentlemen, who enjoyed the time of their lives. The motive power was the "comecure" which Judge Crawford quoted as the underlying motive which makes a man try to hit a ball. There was a sip and supper, and larger and tobacco and R.P. and Worcestershire and all other known commodities which are so indispensable on an occasion of this kind.

In a way the banquet was a return of hospitality to the members of the Edmonton Golf Club for the entertainment shown the E. G. C. team on the occasion of the inter-team match last summer, and a delegation from the Edmonton Golf Club was present to their young lives. Felicitations were mutual and the interests of the two organizations were cemented in a fashion which will prove lasting.

About seventy-five members and guests were seated at long tables when President Harry Shaw of the Edmonton Golf Club called the meeting to order. Present were Mayor Clarke, Commissioner Dan Alton, Aldermen Martin and Hinch, the former in his capacity of golf player, and a number of other notables. The president immediately turned the meeting over to the care of George L. Graham, of the executive committee, who acted as chairman and toastmaster for the remainder of the evening.

After drinking the toast to "The King," the secretary, E. Penber, was called upon, who gave a resume of the club's activities during the year, including a list of the various competitions held and the results. His statement which showed that the club had disbursed $23.50 in prize and $23.50 for other objects, the portrait of which was $25, the donation to the Red Cross as the proceeds of the patriotic fund day in September. This left $125 cash on hand.

Mayor Clarke then made his first after dinner speech of his term and pledged the city to lend every encouragement possible to the development and improvement of the municipal course, which is used by the Edmonton Golf Club players. Sup. Dan Alton followed with some interesting comparative figures of the amount spent by Edmonton and other cities on the upkeep of parks and golf courses, in the course of which it appeared that the net profit of the city had been in the neighborhood of $1,000. The amount, that all surplus should be spent on the course, a statement which was heartily applauded.

For an eighteen-hole course, the cost to the Edmonton Golf Club was proposed by J. A. McKinnon and responded to by Judge Crawford and J. A. McGregor in telling and witty speeches. The point most strongly emphasized was the importance of the two clubs coming together and the desirability of enlarging the present nine-hole municipal course to one of eighteen holes, a prospect which was received with the loudest applause.

Neil Maclean received the toast to "Absent friends and golfers who have gone overseas," and was followed by Geo. Geo. D. Hunt, responded to by Capt. Geo. D. Hunt, who took occasion to speak of the reconstruction problem which faced the country and the need of patriotic reconstruction. The returned soldiers, coming back to take up again the work of peace to which they had become unaccustomed on the battlefield. A silent toast was drunk to those who would not return, the boys who had "gone West."

President Shaw proposed the toast to the Country Club and it was replied to in happy way by G. S. Henley and Aldermen H. M. Martin.

Entertainment Appreciated

Interpreted with the speechmaking were songs by Tom Hughes and Mr. Richardson, who were appreciated to the limit and a "banquet" reading in the verbiage which was effectively rendered by J. J. Harger. Mr. Walter was a capable accompanist.

Last, but by no means least, came Mr. "Noddy" Paine, who was in the management of the theatre, who simply outdid himself in his hilarious talk and song.

The first daughter gave the guests the treat of the evening with her dancing. To say that the "chick" winsome, charming, delightful, lively, and altogether delightful would be to use all the adjectives in the unabridged in no purpose. After round of the most unstinted applause greeted her effort and it was her last song and last dance of the evening.

Mr. Paine made a modest appeal for the Navy League, for funds for its dependents of the sailors of the merchant marine who have been murdered by the Hun, with much else that there was a generous response.

On motion of Judge Crawford, seconded by J. M. Hunter, the following were named as a committee of the two clubs to plan a campaign for the general interest of the game of golf in Edmonton: Judge Crawford, A. A. McGregor and G. S. Henley.

Aldermen Hinch, chairman of the council, also made a few well chosen remarks during the evening.

The singing of the national anthem and "Auld Lang Syne" brought the affair to an end as the stroke of midnight tolled.

In the city police court on Thursday morning, before Magistrate P. C. H. Primmer, in a case brought by the Tractor company, in a wage action brought by Daniel J. Crawford, was ordered to pay the plaintiff $12 and bear the costs of the suit.

The same company was sued for wages by George Hinch in a case brought on Monday, December 20th. If you are planning a trip East, consult your nearest Grand Trunk Pacific agent for full particulars.

HEART PALPITATED Could Count Every Beat

When the heart begins to palpitate, it will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over your whole system, accompanied by weak, fainting star dizziness.

When the heart goes into this condition, you become weak, when you are unable to attend to either social, business or household duties.

Minburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief to all sufferers from any heart weakness or nerve derangement.

Mrs. Walter Gieskes, Asper, Ont., writes: "I had been run down, and doctors told me I was anemic, but did not help me with their medicines. I could not sleep nights, my heart palpitated so, and I could count every beat."

"I used have so many dizzy spells would have to go to bed. I was not able to do any work for eight months. A cousin of mine had taken Minburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and told me what they had done for her. I took eight boxes of them, and now I am able to help every day with the work I am so thankful to tell others what they have done for me, so that they may try this great and wonderful remedy. I hope this may prove a relief to some one who is suffering the way I did."
